Minutes

- Andy Gardner from LION demonstrated the PIKA discovery layer that will be implemented in mid-May. It has some great new features as well as our present aspects.
- After the demonstration, we discussed some of the different customization options Andy had shown us. Andy will provide each library with a link to access their PIKA database. Please take the time to practice searches and generally get a feel for how this system works.
- Check to make sure items display the way they should and make note of any issues. Andy has provided catalogers with an e-mail address to post questions and report any problems or issues you may have.
- Let Andy know if you encounter any other problems. After PIKA is live and any bugs are worked out, the LION Bibliographic manual will be updated to reflect our current policies.
